

"The Better Man Easter Weekend Survival Guide: Feel Great, Not Guilty"

Practical strategies for enjoying Easter without destroying progress

STRATEGY 1: THE 80/20 RULE

What It Means:

- 80% of your weekend stays on track
- 20% is pure enjoyment

How It Works:

- Keep Friday, Saturday morning, and Monday relatively normal
- Let Saturday evening and Sunday be more relaxed
- That's 2 out of 4 days - you're still winning

Example:

- Friday: Normal eating, training session
- Saturday: Good breakfast and lunch, enjoy Easter dinner
- Sunday: Roast dinner and chocolate guilt-free
- Monday: Back to normal routine

STRATEGY 2: START WITH PROTEIN

The Rule: Every meal must start with protein, even Easter ones.

Why:

- Protein fills you up
- Prevents the blood sugar rollercoaster
- Means you'll naturally eat less chocolate/treats

Practical Application:

- Easter dinner: Eat your meat first, then everything else
- Chocolate temptation: Have Greek yogurt or protein shake first
- Morning time: Normal Chicken Eggs before hot cross buns

STRATEGY 3: THE MOVEMENT MINIMUM

The Target: 10,000 steps per day over the 4 days

Why It Works:

- Offsets extra calories naturally
- Keeps your routine alive
- Prevents the "I've completely fallen off" feeling

How To Hit It:

- Saturday: Morning walk before the day begins
- Sunday: Family walk after roast dinner
- Monday: Get outside with the kids or go for your own walk

STRATEGY 4: ALCOHOL STRATEGY

The Framework: Set your limit BEFORE you start drinking.

The Magic Numbers:

- 0-4 drinks: You'll feel fine tomorrow
- 5-7 drinks: You'll feel rough but functional
- 8+ drinks: You've destroyed Sunday and Monday

Smart Approach:

- Pick your maximum (4 is optimal)
- Alternate every second drink with water
- Have your last drink by 10pm
- You'll actually enjoy Easter Monday instead of recovering
- Try to get a sweat in the early day after

STRATEGY 5: CONTROL CHOCOLATE

The Reality: You're going to eat chocolate. Have some intentionality

A Better Approach:

- Don't keep Easter eggs in the house past Monday
- Give excess chocolate to kids/neighbors
- Enjoy it over the weekend, then it's gone

The Rule:

- Saturday/Sunday: Eat chocolate guilt-free
- Monday evening: Whatever's left gets given away
- Tuesday: Back to normal

No "I'll just have a little bit each day" - that's how Easter eggs last until June.

THE CHECKLIST

Your Easter Weekend Success Plan:

BEFORE THE WEEKEND:

- Decide your drink limit (write it down)
- Plan one training session (Friday or Monday ideal)
- Clear your schedule for family walks

DURING THE WEEKEND:

- Hit 10,000 steps each day
- Protein first at every meal
- Stay hydrated (especially if drinking)
- Enjoy chocolate without guilt Saturday/Sunday

AFTER THE WEEKEND:

- Remove all remaining chocolate Monday night
 - Back to normal routine Tuesday (no "I'll start next week")
 - Don't weigh yourself until Thursday (water weight settles)

The Truth: "You don't fail at health because you enjoy Easter weekend. You fail because you let one weekend become two weeks.

Enjoy Saturday and Sunday fully.

Then get back to a solid routine on Tuesday.

That's it. That's the system.

Happy Easter, lads. EnjoyY
